

PANDEMIC AND RESILIENCE POLICY:

EXECUTIVE CERTIFICATE

COURSE DATES:

10th NOVEMBER - 3rd DECEMBER 2020

WHY THIS COURSE?

GDLN is helping to support an Executive Education Certificate as a new initiative. It is working with KDI School and Blended Learning International for this. The focus is Pandemic and Resilience Policy. This is a course from the Global Development Learning Network, a World Bank affiliate. BLI, an ANU start-up, is managing the on-line delivery for GDLN. ANU is a GDLN member.

"The Executive Certificate courses are to be delivered in twice weekly sessions over a 4-week period. Each of these sessions is 90 minutes (45 minutes Framework Sessions + 45 minutes Case Study sessions). The Certificate award is to be based validated on course participation, but no assessment is required at this executive level. The course has been designed to meet standards set by the Korea Development Institute."

COURSE CONTENT AND APPROACH

The course is to be delivered live online. It is being coordinated by ANU Professor Glenn Withers, GDLN Global Board Chair. The presenters in the October course included the following professors from Australia, Korea, and Singapore: Peter Collignon, Ramesh Thakur, Sangwoo Tak, Jo An Atkinson, M. Jae Joon, Jayant Menon, Greg Austin, Helen Dickinson and Glenn Withers.

Each ninety minute session provides first a framework for resilience followed by an expert application from the experience of the current crisis.

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to understand the:

- International and national approaches in pandemic and resilience policy,
- Importance of multi-dimensional analytic approaches (health, economic and social),
- Centrality of the human perspective,
- Linkage between first response, initial recovery, and longer term regeneration,
- Lessons of success and failure in resilience policy, and
- Commonalities in resilience policy for quite distinct threats: cyber, pandemic, and climate change, among others.
